

Susan Typert

Studying with Ruth Rodgers was a life changing experience for Susan Typert. A weekend workshop opened the door back to the world of art that had been the launch pad for Susan's career in advertising. Ruth shares her expertise through a demonstrative teaching style that generates fast results for new students and encourages them to continue with pastel. As a Master Pastelist, Ruth's incredible body of work was a true inspiration to Susan who now spends countless hours cowboying across the back roads of Ontario, chasing the light with her husband John Racovali. Her pastels are reflective of the scenes captured first on camera, then on canvas. In her professional life, she is the Creative Director and owner of Black Cat Advertising. Her two creative worlds – and her two children, Chloe and Rory, bring her true life fulfillment. Susan is a member of the Scugog Council for the Arts and Pastel Artists.Ca.
