

Ronald Peter

Working in oils, watercolour, pastels and pen and ink, I try to portray culturally interesting, as well as intriguing landscapes and found still life images. Many of my subjects were discovered while touring North America by motorcycle, allowing me to absorb the atmosphere and subtle nuances of an area unencumbered and unfiltered by steel and glass.

I studied art in Toronto in the early 1960s, then began a career in the graphic arts, specializing in design, publishing and advertising that lasted over 40 years.

Now retired, I am devoting all my time and creative energy to the world of painting.
